Jappe Eckhardt : Business Lobbying and Trade Governance: The Case of EU-China Relations (European Administrative Governance) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Business Lobbying and Trade Governance: The Case of EU-China Relations (European Administrative Governance):

This book provides an innovative account of how the globalization of production and the emergence of global value chains impacts on trade preferences, lobby strategies and the political influence of EU firms. It sheds new light on the complex EU-China trade relations.

'The political economy behind trade policy formulation becomes increasingly complex in a world featuring the continued expansion of international supply chains. By contextualizing a number of recent and high profile EU antidumping and safeguard disputes concerning the integration of China into the global economy, Jappe Eckhardt's delightful case studies bring this phenomenon to life.' Chad P. Bown, The World Bank 'Jappe Eckhardt's Business Lobbying and Trade Governance: The Case of EU-China Relations skillfully demonstrates how new patterns of international production are dramatically changing the political economy of trade. Eckhardt's persuasive analysis of high-profile disputes involving Europe and China makes a valuable contribution to our understanding of contemporary trade relations.' Jeffrey L. Dunoff, Temple University, USA 'With this carefully crafted volume, Jappe Eckhardt breaks new ground in the study of trade politics. For all too long, scholars have not paid sufficient attention to how changes in the patterns of international trade and production impact on trade politics. We understand trade policy-making better thanks to Eckhardt's work.' Andreas Duuml;r, University of Salzburg, Austria
