R.T. Naylor : Canada in the European Age, 1453-1919 before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Canada in the European Age, 1453-1919:

As Bruce Trigger explains in his preface, Canada in the European Age, 1453-1919 was the first history in which native peoples appeared as genuine actors in human dramas - mainly tragedies - instead of as part of the flora and fauna in the background. By stressing the interconnections between the grand events of the conquest and subjugation of the globe by European empire builders and the less dramatic events in Canada, Naylor's book led to a fundamental reinterpretation of Canadian social, economic, and political history.

"An author who can visualize the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Winnipeg to Vancouver in 1880-82 as an act of British imperialism linking India to Britain must be praised for raising Canadian history to new levels of perception." Canadian Book Annual "An outstanding work of synthesis that merits a wide readership among all those interested in a cogent challenge to the liberal view of Canadian history." British Journal of Canadian Studies

"Refreshingly sardonic and elegantly sarcastic, Naylor writes with wit and unusual antagonism to the powerful." American Historical About the Author R.T. Naylor is professor, economics, McGill University, and the author of many books, including Economic Warfare: Sanctions, Embargo Busting, and Their Human Cost, and Bankers, Bagmen, and Bandits: Business and Politics in the Age of Greed.
