Niall Murphy Some useful information - and as an Irish person it is nice to read something in this area that is directed towards the Irish educational system and Irish conventions. However it is quite disappointing that so many of the sections on assessing yourself (or your child) lead to web sites (which have self-guided tests) and many of those tests are for a fee (e.g.[...] ). If the book informed the reader which of the sites had a fee and if it is good value then it would be far more transparent. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. The range of experience of the contributors, the activities and down to earth way it is written really appealed to my son and I. It helps parents understand the education system, gives an overview of the options post Leaving Certificate and doesn't concentrate only on points and college. I've learned so much already in the short time I have it.

The tools every parent needs to help their teenager find the career of their dreams In Ireland, one in six students drop out of their chosen college course feeling disillusioned about their career path and uncertain about their future. This can deal a major blow to their self-esteem, not to mention the financial blow to parents who are paying the tuition fees. So whether you are a parent of teenagers starting secondary school or preparing to leave, it makes sense to be informed about practical ways to help your child take steps towards a successful future now. Most career advice in Ireland has a rather narrow focus when helping teens decide which college course to choose. Career Coach is different. By looking at the bigger picture ndash; who they are and what they are good at ndash; experienced and inspirational career guidance counsellor Dearbhla Kelly will empower you to help your teenager link their dreams to the reality of the world of work and reach their full potential. 'This book will be of great help to parents who are supporting their teens to make sense of who they are and what they want to do with their life.' Jennifer McKenzie, Director, National Centre for Guidance in Education (and parent to two college students!)
