From Palgrave Macmillan : Goods from the East, 1600-1800: Trading Eurasia (Europe's Asian Centuries)
before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Goods from the East, 1600-1800: Trading Eurasia (Europe's Asian Centuries):

Goods from the East focuses on the fine product trade's first Global Age: how products were made, marketed and distributed between Asia and Europe between 1600 and 1800. It brings together established scholars as well as new, to provide a full comparative and connective study of this trade.

It documents an important and laudable scholarly effort to up-date, advance and channel historical research on the impact of maritime trade and exchange between Europe and Asia in the early modern period in new and exciting directions . It is a generally successful collective work and should be welcomed and engaged with. Goods from the East does succeed in updating, advancing and channeling our historical research on those topics.
